Frew-Marshall.

The following taken from the Rock Hill Herald will be read with the greatest interest by the many friends of James Marshall, who has always made his home in Anderson until the past few years:

"The crowning event of the series of delightful social affairs attendant thereupon was the wedding last evening of Miss Lucile Frew, of this city, and James B. Marshall, Jr., of Charlotte. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock, in the presence of a limited number of close friends and relatives of the two families, but immediately following a number of the city's society folk called to express in person congratulations and good wishes for the popular young couple.

The residence of the bride's father, Chas. W. Frew, was lovely in its arrangement, the spacious rooms and hallway being en suite and most artistically adorned. The doorways, picture-molding and stairway were festooned with graceful southern smilax and against this as a background soft ferns and flowers mingled their beauty and fragrance. In the east parlor where the ceremony was performed, a color harmony of white and green was carried out in ferns, white dahlias and cosmos in hand-some brass jardinières. Immediately over the bridal couple was suspended a shower of the cosmos tied with narrow white satin ribbons. To the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Evelyn Frew, the bride party entered. The maids descended the white carpeted stairway and were met by the groomsmen as follows: Miss Lalla Marshall, of Anderson, and Lathan Roddey; Miss Georgia Marshall, of Anderson, and Thad Horton, of Greenville; Miss Emma London and Thos. Cartwright, of Anderson; Miss Margaret Frew and R. B. Waters; Miss Catherine Frew, the bride's sister, as maid of honor, entered alone in front of the bride who was attended by her father, and was joined by the groom with his brother and best man, W. T. Marshall, of Anderson. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. F. W. Gregg, of the First Presbyterian church.

The bride was a lovely figure in a gown of lustrous white satin characterized by the following: The house was elaborately decorated with ferns and cut flowers and after all the guests had arrived dainty little Miss Elizabeth Muldrow, dressed as a bride, entered the living room and showered the bride with gifts from her friends present. A delicious salad course was served.

meuse, the bodice being adorned with Brussels lace and the graceful maline tunic being outlined with seed pearls. The veil, in cap effect, was caught with valley lilies, the exquisite shower bouquet of bride roses, lilies and ferns completing the charming effect. The maid of honor was charming indeed in a gown of pink crepe meteor with tunic drapery of satin-edged maline and rhinestone trimming. Her bouquet was of pink Killarney roses, tied with white maline. The bridesmaids were beautifully gowned in costumes of white satin net, or lace, and each carried an armful of pink bridesmaid roses, with maline bows.

At the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. London and Miss Mary Frew, the visitors were shown into the dining room, where an elegant buffet supper was served by Misses Polly Parker, Margaret and Catherine McElwee, Elizabeth Pressley and Isabel Boyd, dainty souvenirs of lilies of the valley being pinned on. This room was lovely in its arrangement. The round table was laid with cluny mats over pink and had for centerpiece a cut glass vase of magnificent Killarney roses, while encircling it were single rose bonbonnières, filled with heart-shaped mints. Rows of lighted candles on mantel and buffet, and vases of pink dahlias and roses enhanced the effect. In the coffee-room, decorated with black-eyed susans, tea and coffee were poured at a dainty appointed table by Mrs. S. T. Frew and Miss Nell Field and served by Misses Emma Kerr, of Lancaster, and Martha Marshall, of Yorkville.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall boarded the 9 o'clock train for a bridal trip north after which they will go, at once to housekeeping in Dilworth, Charlotte, where the groom is in business as a civil engineer, and where during a short residence he has made a number of warm friends who will cordially welcome him and his winsome bride. The bride's traveling costume was a coat suit of dark green chiffon broadcloth with modish long redingote edged with black fur, and hat of black velvet with green plumes.

Gelsberg-Cohen.
The marriage of Miss Sadie Cohen and Mr. Harry Gelsberg, of Anderson, S. C., was a brilliant event of Wednesday evening, solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Heard street.

A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, which took place at eight o'clock, a reception being held afterwards.

Miss Minnie Cohen was her sister's maid of honor; Mrs. Gershon Rubenstein, of Anderson, was matron of honor; Mr. Max Gelsberg, of Anderson, S. C., was best man; the bridesmaids were Misses Mamie Cohen, of Madison, and Stella Wyce, of Easton; the ushers were Messrs. Harry Cohen, of Madison, and Nathan Cohen, of Covington; Master Herbert Cohen, of Atlanta, was train-bearer.

The bride approached the altar with her father, Mr. Joseph Cohen, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Dr. Hirsch, of Athens, pronounced the impressive marriage service, the orchestra playing "Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star," during the ceremony.

The bridal party were grouped in the living room about an altar banked in ferns and white chrysanthemums. An arch of ivy and chrysanthemums outlined in hundreds of tiny lights. The orchestra was stationed in the adjoining room in an alcove of palms and chrysanthemums. Decorations throughout the reception floor were in green and white.

The bride was beautiful in a exquisite gown of white satin and duchess lace. The long court train of white satin moire fell from the shoulders and was caught with sprays of lily-of-the-valley. Her veil of tulle was worn cap-fashion and wreathed with the same flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies. The maid of honor wore a charming gown of pink satin and chiffon with pink slippers and her shower bouquet was of pink roses. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids wore pink satin and their shower bouquet was of pink roses. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids wore pink satin gowns and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Cohen, the bride's mother, was gowned in black brocade chiffon over white satin. Mrs. O. Gelsberg, of Anderson, the groom's mother, wore black satin and silver lace.

After the ceremony an elaborate salad course, cream and cake were served. Misses Martha Jones and Florence Silverman served punch on the veranda from a bowl banked in ferns and white chrysanthemums. Misses Marion Reeves and Mildred Payne presented the guests with wedding cake in souvenir boxes of white moire. The bride's book in which the guests registered, was kept by Mrs. Wilbur Webb. Many handsome gifts were exhibited on the second floor. The orchestra played appropriate selections, toasts were offered and telegrams to the bridal pair were read.

The bride's beauty and charm of character have centered on her the sincere admiration of many friends and she has been most popular socially. The groom is one of the leading young business men of South Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Gelsberg left on the midnight train for Asheville. The bride's traveling costume was in brown, of tete de nigre broadcloth with accessories to match. After their wedding trip they will keep house in Anderson, S. C.

The following from Anderson were among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding: Mrs. O. Gelsberg, Mrs. Gershon, Rubenstein, Misses Dora and Marie Gelsberg, Mr. Yed Gelsberg, Mr. Max Gelsberg, Messrs. Phil. White, Ernest Johnson, A. J. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Harleston Barton.

Club Party.

Mrs. T. L. Coley entertained the members of the Calhoun Street Club most pleasantly Saturday afternoon at her home on Calhoun street. Auction was enjoyed for an hour after which the tables were cleared and a tempting salad course served. The guests who were Miss Ella Mae Cummings, Mrs. Keith Prevost, Miss Bertha Cook, Miss Martha Bonham, Mrs. W. D. McLean, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. G. B. Greene.

Miss Brown Entertains.

Miss Jessie Brown was hostess at a delightful little party Saturday afternoon at her home on West Market street when she entertained in honor of Miss Caroline Vance, who is her house guest and will leave Monday to make her home in Columbia.

Two tables were placed in the living room where the guests played auction.

A tempting salad course was served the following guests: Misses Vance, Anna Ross Cunningham, Vina Patrick, Annie Cooley, Janie Hamilton, Weeza Gilmer, Kathleen Norrison and Mrs. Jesse Stribling.

Mrs. Nardin Webb.

Mrs. Nardin Webb entertained most informally but delightfully Friday afternoon at her home on West Whitman street, after a number of interesting rubber of which the hostess served tempting refreshments.

Show for Miss Glick.

On October 18, Mrs. Glick was hostess at one of the most delightful parties of the season given by her at her home on the corner of Main and the fall events in Anderson society. The house was elaborately decorated with ferns and cut flowers and after all the guests had arrived dainty little Miss Elizabeth Muldrow, dressed as a bride, entered the living room and showered the bride with gifts from her friends present. A delicious salad course was served.

Mrs. Janie Todd leaves tomorrow for Knoxville, Tenn., to spend the winter with her son, Harris Todd. Mr. Todd arrived in the city Friday and his mother will accompany him home.

Miss Leah Horton, of Thomasville, Ga., is the attractive guest of Mrs. Louis Horton, on Woodrow circle.

Mrs. Keith Prevost and little son have returned from a week's stay in Atlanta, where they have been the guests of relatives.

Miss Ida Allen, of Lowndesville, is the guest of Mrs. Watson, on South McDuffie street.

Miss Genevieve Singleton, who was the attractive guest of Miss Lois Reece for a week, has returned to her home in Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kimsey have returned from their wedding trip.

Farewell Party.

Miss Caroline Vance Banks was the guest of honor at a lovely little tea party Wednesday evening when Miss Mabel Dillingham entertained for her at her home on East Benson street.

Rook was enjoyed the first part of the evening, then the guests were invited into the dining room, where a beautifully appointed table awaited them. The central decoration was a tall vase filled with heliotrope and around this, lying on the table, was an abundance of the same flower. From the center of the table to the place reserved for Miss Banks tiny heliotrope ribbons were stretched and as Miss Dillingham gave a clever quotation the honoree pulled the ribbons and found hidden under the heliotrope, from each of her girl friends, a little package containing a farewell present. Miss Banks left yesterday for Greenville, where she will spend a few days before going to Columbia, where she will make her home.

Covers were laid for fifteen and a delicious two course tea served. The guests were Misses Caroline Banks, Laurie Smelters, Evelyn Browne, Anne Campbell, Virginia Gilmer, Clarice Townsend, Carol Cox, Marjorie Guest, Marion Gray, Hazel Murphy, Sara Murphy, Frank and Ruth Martin, of Greenville, and the hostess.

After the tea guests, chaperoned by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Dillingham, and aunt, Mrs. Bob King, spent the rest of the evening at the picture show.

Allen-Turner.

The marriage of Miss Meta Allen to William Brian Turner, of Ellenton, was solemnized Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Baptist church. The ceremony, which was performed by the Dr. John F. Vines was witnessed by a number of friends and relatives of the two families.

The church had been artistically decorated with palms and ferns. Bows of golden red lent a pretty color note to the green background. The bridal party entered to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. O. L. Martin.

The bride, entering with her brother Ernest Allen, of Lowndesville, wore a beautiful going away suit of purple cloth with dainty white lace blouse. Her black velvet hat completed the bridal costume. White flowers and ferns in showered effect formed her bouquet. She was met at the altar by the groom with his best man, Capt. J. M. Murray, of Aiken.

The ushers were Wido Watson, Fritz Watson, Earl Watson and Theron Allen.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Turner left for their wedding trip. They will return on November 1 to make their home at Ellenton, South Carolina.

For Mrs. Frierson.

A pretty compliment to Mrs. Edward Frierson, one of Belton's October brides, was the party given Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Frierson is pretty known in Anderson society and has often been a popular visiting girl here.

Miss Frierson used ferns and cut flowers to decorate the rooms where her guests were entertained. Miss Anna Ross Cunningham, Mrs. Will Tolly and Miss Chester Plant assisted in entertaining an deserving the guests an elaborate salad course, followed with coffee and fruit cake.

The guests invited to spend the afternoon with Mrs. Frierson were Misses Jessie Brown, Anna Ross Cunningham, Ella Mae Cummings, Lorena Cummings, Jean Harris, Annie Cooley, Annie Chapman, Louise Humphreys, Emmie Cathcart, Martha Bonham, Julia Guyton, Mrs. George Townsend, Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Jim Farmer, Mrs. W. H. Fraser, Mrs. Chester Plant, Mrs. William Muldrow, Mrs. Annie Weston.

Great Movement Gaining Ground

PROMINENT PEOPLE IN THE NORTH LENDING ALL POSSIBLE AID TO THE FARMERS

Flour Manufacturer Has Increased His Consumption of Cotton Over 160 Per Cent for Every Day in Year.

Cotton conferences, cotton caucuses, deliberations and conventions have done little to help the South in her time of need, but some of the larger manufacturers in this country have about it they have gone ahead and accomplished something. For instance, the Obelisk flour men, Ballard & Ballard, went to work to see how much more cotton they could consume in their factories this year than used and as a result that well known firm now uses over 100 per cent more cotton than they have ever done before. Mr. Ballard explains how this was done in the following letter to the Anderson chamber of commerce:

"This a concrete suggestion for the relief of the cotton section. Please bring it to the attention of the officials of your city who are interested. The United States consumes 40 per cent of our cotton crop, and we see no earthly reason why this should not be increased so much that it will be unnecessary to import much, if any, jute from India.

"Investigations should begin at home and we were surprised at finding that our own firm could increase its consumption of cotton goods over 100 per cent. To illustrate: we have discontinued the use of jute bags for feed sacks, for burlap covers and for baker's flour sacks, and have substituted cotton sacks. Therefore, today this mill is consuming every twenty-four hours the following:

"(a) $600.00 worth of cotton flour bags.
"(b) $800.00 worth of cotton feed bags.
"(c) $400.00 worth of cotton covers for small bags.
"(d) $25.00 worth of cotton baker's bags.

"Total, $1225.00 worth of cotton sacks consumed each day.

Two weeks ago we were using each day only the amount marked (a). The result is startling. Every jobber, retailer and baker in your city should demand that the flour and feed come in cotton, and not in burlap. The expense is a little more for cotton, but a broad-minded mill figures that it gets its money back and more because of the increased prosperity enjoyed by the cotton section.

"Furthermore, sugar, fertilizer, grain, produce, etc., can just as well be packed in cotton as in burlap. The producer will use cotton if the jobber demands it, so we say it is strictly up to you. Remember that this would bring the United States' consumption from 40 per cent of the total crop up to 60 per cent. Surely it is worth striving for! Please have your newspapers take it up.

"Cotton mills are hardly operating 12 hours—they should operate 24 hours! Bear in mind that in two weeks' time Ballard has made a change in his packing methods which means that instead of consuming $180,000.00 worth of cotton goods in a year we are consuming $267,500.00 worth. What Ballard has done, every other mill can be forced to do.

"Can we count on your co-operation in this great movement? American raises not one pound of jute, and she does raise cotton!

"Yours truly,
"BALLARD & BALLARD CO.,
"By S. Thurston Ballard.
"One should use cotton cloth for bagging."

The "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement has spread to all points, North, South, East and West, and purchases have greatly exceeded expectations. This movement has been the means of several million dollars being put into circulation in the South, as well as bringing about a more stable market for the cotton crop.

Among the most enthusiastic supporters of this movement have been the automobile and accessory dealers and manufacturers. It has been estimated that the automobile and accessory manufacturers have purchased, or have under headway, at least 50,000 bales, at 10 cents per pound, which means a circulation of $2,500,000 in the South. It is further estimated that this amount by Christmas will have paid from 10 to 12 millions of dollars in debts.

Among the prominent supporters of this movement has been the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., which was one of the first to purchase cotton for display in their various branches as well as through dealers. They have made a recent purchase through Archie L. Todd, of Anderson, S. C., which is now on display in their window.

Every manufacturer who is contributing locally to this cause is helping to promote the welfare of the South.

BRINGS THE WAR NEARER ENGLAND

the fighting, which means, of course, that although the artillery has been busy as ever, neither side has attempted any attacks.

Continuous Battle For Weeks.
Around St. Mihiel, south of Verdun, where the Germans are hanging on to the little strip of the river Meuse which they succeeded in crossing and from which the French have been trying for weeks to drive them, the battle has been almost continuous and the French claim to have gained more ground.

Away down Alsace, which is seldom mentioned in the official reports there has been fighting, which, however, both French and German statements ignore. Twice during the week reports have come from Basel that the Germans have been defeated there and now an unofficial account from Gerlin says the fortress of Belfort has been attacked with mortars.

Both Berlin and Paris express confidence in the outcome of the battle in the East and West.

Reports Differ.
Reports of fighting in east Prussia, Poland, Galicia and Hungary are so widely at variance that it is difficult to judge of the progress of the battles. Austria claims to be driving the Russians out of Hungary, while the Russian generals say they are leaving the country to escape infection from cholera.

Berlin says the Galician fortress of Przemyel, has been relieved, while the Russian report, received through Rome, says the fortress at last has fallen. In Poland both sides insist they have gained the advantage in advance guard actions. The only thing on which both sides agree is that in actively prevails in Suwalki.

Russians Waiting For Germans.
In Poland, where a battle is being fought, the Germans are making for the crossing of the Vistula, behind which the Russians are waiting for them. The Russian advance guard thrown out in front of the river are falling back before the German advance, and it doubtless is this fighting which was referred to in the official reports from Berlin and Petrograd. One account says the Germans have taken the offensive with success but the Russians declare the Austrians and Germans have been reduced to the defensive. It is quite likely the state of the roads prevents either side from making any advance and that they will be compelled to wait until the ground has frozen before striking their real blow.

Delay Is Important.
From the Allies' standpoint the delay in the eastern theatre of war is important, for it prevents the Germans from sending reinforcements to the west. The inhabitants of Poland apparently are giving the Germans some trouble and are reported to have organized marauding parties which, while they cannot do much damage to any army, can interfere with its communications by destroying roads and bridges.

Mines Causing Annoyance.
Mines and the stopping of neutral steamers are causing much annoyance to neutral countries. Following the example of Germany and England, Russia is sowing mines in the Baltic, while the Germans are said to have placed these dangerous machines in the Scheldt, which is Dutch water. The Adriatic, too, has been mined and the Italian fishing industry probably brought to an end.

The Scandinavian countries and Holland are chief sufferers from the searching of neutral ships, for the ships are now being stopped by both British and German warships.

Danger from the Turkish fleet has passed for the time being, these warships having returned from the Black Sea to the Sea of Marmora. It is considered doubtful whether they will go out again unless Turkey definitely throws in her lot with Germany, for the British ambassador at Constantinople has declared the cruisers Goeben and Breslau will be considered hostile ships as long as they are officered and manned by Germans.

Famine Is Feared.
Turkey is keeping her army mobilized at great cost and to the detriment of trade and commerce, which are practically at a standstill. Although the crops are good, famine is feared in the Armenian provinces.

Germany, it is said, has sent money to Constantinople, but it is considered doubtful that she will be able to supply all Turkey's wants.

The Germans are rebuilding the forts around Antwerp.

No Important Events.
LONDON, Oct. 17.—An official statement issued from the German general headquarters today says that in the French theatre of war there have been no important events according to a Berlin dispatch to the Reuters Telegram Company, received by way of Amsterdam.

"In the province of Suwalki," the statement adds, "the Russians yesterday were inactive. A number of prisoners were captured near Schirwindt and some guns were taken. The battle near and south of Warsaw continues."
